Stem Cell Technology

Synopsis

This module covers the biology of stem cells and their biomedical applications, extracellular matrices, chemical approach, and the latest induced pluripotent stem cell development and differentiation. In this module, the students will be introduced to quality control for stem cell processing and the legal regulation behind its applications in treatment. The students will have the opportunity to listen to issues related to stem cells from the perspective of related industry players and related regulatory agencies. The module will be delivered as blended learning, where the theoretical components will be taught online as a core module, while the practical sessions will be delivered face-to-face as a separate module (elective module). Students are encouraged to attend both modules to fulfill the course learning outcomes. For the elective module, additional costs may apply. The certificate will be issued according to the enrolment plan.
